I am a singer and voice teacher based in the bay area with experience teaching voice to musicians interested in classical, musical theater, and other commercial music styles. I have been teaching privately for 13 years to singers from as young as 6 to as seasoned as 60+. Most of my students are in high school and middle school, but I also teach college students and adults. My voice students have leading roles on Broadway (REAL WOMEN HAVE CURVES) and many study music at Boston Conservatory at Berklee, Oberlin Conservatory, Stanford University and summer music training programs at Interlochen, UCLA Musical Theater Summer Program, Boston University Tanglewood Institute, Stagedoor Manor, MPulse at the University of Michigan, and the Vocal Academy at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. I have trained private voice students for successful auditions/acceptances at USC Thornton School of Music, Northwestern Bienen School of Music, and UCLA Herb Alpert School of Music. Other students sing in musiclas across the bay area and have placed in national, regional, and local competitions with the National Association of Teachers of Singing. I was an adjunct instructor at University of Nevada, Las Vegas (Voice) and West Valley College (Hip Hop). I currently teach private voice in the Continuing Education and Pre-College Academy at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music and the award-winning Premier Ensemble of the San Francisco Girls Chorus.

Lesson fee includes:

Complete attention and focus on the voice, their well-being, repertoire selection and/or guidance. I also serve as a pianist for the lesson (this is usually a separate fee in many cases). I offer advice about vocal health, vocal performances, auditions, and competitions. For those serious about study in college, I provide resources and information on summer programs, competitions, and I happily write letters of recommendation for those who show strong interest and potential and connect singers with colleagues in the field. For those serious about further their career in performance, I also guide and assist with preparing for professional or semi-professional auditions. Lastly, studio recitals may be an option for those interested.

SCHEDULING

Times are agreed upon between both parties before the lesson is to begin.

Lessons that I miss will be made up. Last minute cancelled lessons (Less than 24 hours) by the singer may or may not be made up. There will be a full lesson charge where a no-show occurs. If you need to cancel, please let me know 48 hours before. If a lesson is cancelled less than 48 hours before, 50% of the payment is still due. If an emergency occurs, let me know as soon as you can and I will do my best to reschedule.

If you are ill and believe it will impact the lesson, please let me know as soon as possible. In some cases, it is useful for more advanced singers to learn how to efficiently sing when sick, depending on the sickness. In those cases, I will wear a mask during instruction.
